You actually don't need Moby's detective kit for this one. But, you do need a magnifying glass, some scotch tape and a pencil or two.

1. Rub a pencil really hard so that some of the graphite powder collects.

2. Press your finger into the powder.

3. Get a piece of scotch tape and press that dirty finger to the sticky side. Then stick the tape onto a piece of white paper.

4. Give your print 10 minutes to dry, and then check it out with a magnifying glass. Do you see the intricate designs?

5. Have your friends do it and see if you can guess which prints belong to which person.
